SPECIALIST TRAINING & SKILLS DEVELOPMENT

SMART PROJX

SmartprojX is a level 1 B-BBEE company specializing in Training and skills development. Our offerings centre on the Software Development and Testing industry with a strong focus on preparing the candidates with the necessary industry specific training to ensure candidates have the relevant skills to become high performing developers and testers.

We have a history of working with BlueChip companies and a reference list that includes consultants as far as Germany, Ireland, Northern Ireland, America, Sweden, Netherlands and South Africa.

Our training has been well received in globally recognised, locally based leading software development companies where we have been tasked with IT centric soft skills development and training through to the most specialized software testing and development certificates.

SmartprojX prides in creating an impact in this demanding work environment. The Director is hands-on and takes full responsibility for the training of all candidates. Results are seen almost immediately as candidates leave inspired and motivated to implement various techniques into their day 2 day activities.
